Patti Calistro has returned to the United States. Her daughter Amber, 4, will remain with her mother's friend in the Bahamas for further cancer therapy.

A reception for all those interested in Amber's progress in her fight against cancer is planned at Studio

3, 15 River St., at 7:30 p.m. tonight. Anyone wishing to attend is invited. "There's much news," she said in a cablegram.

Amber Calistro is being treated by Dr. Lawrence Burton at the Immunology Researching Centre, on Grand Bahama Island. The child's cancer is in remission, according to her father Michael Calistro.
